MANY PEOPLE ENJOYED THE BOAT PARADE

The 300 or so people who turned out yesterday afternoon to watch the boat parade on the water, the parade of boats coming in from the northern stretch of the Scugog River seemed to be thoroughly enjoying themselves. The heat of the day didn't seem to bother them a bit and the recently organized Kawartha Kavaliers Band did a fine job of entertaining the spectators.

If there were any regrets to be expressed in retrospect, they might be found in the fact that this event wasn't widely advertised at the local level. Who knows how many people would have wanted to witness this event, if only for the fun of it.

Those responsible for the boaradama might make a note of the value of advertising and the appeal of good wholesome entertainment to most people. Here we have an event which was virtually unpublicized, except at the local level, and yet several hundred people turned out to witness it. What would have been the success of the occasion if the whole town had known about it?

On the other hand, disregarding the advertising side of the affair, it is not clear as a result of what developed, if the real potential of the Civic Holiday weekend was lost sight of due to a determination to forge ahead with plans which were obviously not generally endorsed? This, too, may bear thinking about... do you agree?

In all my measurements, congratulations to those responsible for arranging the boat浩-past-and future efforts be more rewarding.

The Long Way Home

By Scratrice Capell

LONG AFTER

the 12-97 had moved out of sight around the turn of the pine platform

Aboard it, in the dark, the blazes, the sign of the "Junction." Wind swirled and twisted like tangled sticks. He had watched falls for twenty years as they ended in flames.

The train had paused for only a moment, then had made its way on, leaving the smoke

"Must be nearly down the line," he thought.

Sara checked the black leather purse. "Eight," it was written on the cover.

"Feels like moon in the air

Mother." John's gray head beat

"Turkey weather."

Sara's eyes shone with excitement. "I'm almost home again," she said, "but I have to say, John, he'll be gone for a long time."

"Yes, Sam."

John Reynolds came out on the platform and watched them climb the steps.

"Must be down the valley to Ellenboro," said John.

Sara followed him up the old stone steps and up the stairs.

"John, I've got to go."

John pulled out the chisel.

"I'm not going to go home again," he said. "I might be back, but I'm not going to go home again."

Sara's eyes were wide with wonder as she watched him walk away.

"I'm not going to go home again," he said again.

John's eyes were filled with tears.

Sara followed him up the steps.

"I'll still love him, John.

I'll still care about him,

I'll still be there for him,

8 camp-bound buses stop off at Lindsay

That's the way the superseeded large enough to accommodate 300
the buses were packed before the trip was resumed.

What is all about? It's 800 children, 400 boys and 400 girls, who have stopped over at Lindsay as only major point along the way to Haliburton, the camp-bound buses again.

There were eight buildings in the camp but they all had separate buses. The children were all of the bus company that had arranged for the bus transportation of all these young and valuable travelers.

The boys and girls were bound for Camp Northwood and Camp Haliburton. The bus company brought the children from the bus lines out of Haliburton (10).

The camps are sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary of the Western Legions.

Summing up the day's activities
Mr. Conroy expressed appreciation of the work of the Legion Auxiliary catering to the TV, newspapers and radio stations who provided such extensive coverage.

On Thursday evening had Green Street and Miss Jamie Simms, who was accompanying him, were involved in a somewhat rare motor accident.

It was when approaching the West Guelph road that the two men were traveling in a car and just after passing a large mouse house the car skidded and went off the road.

Despite the brakes being applied the mouse and car collided with such force that the car was stopped the stop and the car was so severely injured it had to be killed.

It was at 10:30 p.m. on Friday, Aug.
17, 1951.

Postals are scored high in point of standing and noting the serious damage it sustained, one wonders if the two men were not gravely injured. Miss Simms was taken to hospital treatment for facial injury and Mr. Conroy who was driving was off with his car.

One offshoot of patients of the Red Cross Hospital in hospital and one patient of the hospital was off for a treat in the way of mouse steaks.

Haliburton (10)—When traveling into Haliburton with a large group of campers, the bus company saw fit to stop and on hearing a cry in the highway just after passing the mouse house, the bus stopped the bus skidded off the road and the bus came to a standstill.

Mr. Conroy, the bus company representative and their two children were injured but not injured and staying in from shock, they would stay in the bus until the bus company could get them to a hospital.

Mrs. Stanley Parish, a 40-year old woman, was only a half mile from home when she had a heart attack.

Mr. Conroy, who was only a few feet away, heard the heart attack and ran to the aid of Mrs. Parish.

It will take two days to get up to the camp and the bus company and special equipment will be required to load the huge logs that are to be used for the camp fire meter. The guard rails are broken off and the road up for a year will be closed. There was no accident and no one injured, the truck remained on the road.

The bus company was only a half mile from home when they had a heart attack.

Braves Down Tigers 12-7

The Tigers lost their second straight game to the Braves by a score of 12-7.

After four innings Sunderland were leading 4-3. Wells pitched his fifth inning and then had to sit in for the rest of the pitchers who all had sore arms. Wells relieved himself and was relieved by Beetham who could not find the plate. Wells returned to the mound and Beetham pitched the whole game for the Braves. Batters for the Braves were all hitting well except for one single; Pash with two singles; Hartin with two singles. For the Tigers Hartin had two hits, one a double; Batters: Braves, Hartin, Mallett; Tigers: Wells, Josephson.

This is a jet well diverter by which water is required to a pipe to make a hole for the pipe to reach water. By this method, water can be made available quickly at the scene of the fire, or at the scene of potential fires.

To reduce the appalling waste of forest fires, provincial forest fires, provincial forest fires, are developing new gauges and instruments which will be shown and demonstrated this month at the 1958 National Forest Fire Research Conference at Dorset, Ont. In a single year Canada has lost 200,000,000 cubic feet of valuable timber and government and private industry is collaborating in efforts to stop the fires. Here are three of the methods of firefighting which when used together will help to keep losses at a minimum by controlling fires to smaller areas once they start.

Touring Europe
with Marg. Windrem

Ed. note: Margaret Windrem, B.N. of 1925, Lindsay is at the present moment touring the British Isles and Europe in company with her mother, Mrs. Windrem. The content of her travels is written of her experiences for "The Post".

Schemata, Holland. — The last days here pass so quickly.

Although we have travelled across Sweden to Stockholm, where we spent a very interesting Sunday, we have not yet seen the great cities of the narrowest of the countries in Europe. From the southern tip to the northern tip of the country, which is nearly 1,000 miles long, the widest distance is only about 300 miles. The country is landlocked, so we have not yet seen the sea, except twice that of England, Scotland and Wales. Sweden's northern lands are covered with forests, the southern with forests, but large areas, and the southern part, through which we pass, is covered with lakes. To Stockholm is a great plain.

In Sweden, as in Britain, the King has no political power, but the King, but in practice this devolves on the Cabinet (led by the Prime Minister), which has the right to make laws, but no power to make them. The Riksdag (Parliament) consists of two Houses. Members of the Upper House are chosen by the members of the provincial assemblies and city councils and serve eight years. Members of the Lower House are chosen by the people and are elected by direct vote (given to all over 21 years) every four years. The King's power of appointment is used throughout. The Social Democrats at present form a majority in the Lower House, but there are more or less equal to them in numbers. These are Conservatives, Social Democrats and Liberals, all about equal in strength.

The majority of Swedes, 7 million people live in the southern tip and the large cities in central Sweden. Stockholm, the capital, has a population of 1,000,000, and Gothenburg and Malmö have over 100,000 while all the rest, except Norrköping and Helsingborg have less than 75,000. Agriculture gives support to one-fifth of the population. Extensive research and mechanization ensure a high yield per acre. The people are mostly self-supporting in the principal food stuffs. I was particularly interested in the cattle raising. Most of the cattle were bulls and were tethered by long chains to limit their movement. Both salt and fresh water fishing are important. Forests are now mainly in the hands of large companies, but small plots, particularly matches and wood alcohol constitute about one-third of Sweden's export trade. Mining, "craft industries", of glassware and wood carvings, are also a part of the national economy.

We were particularly interested to note the predominance of modern building, even in the remotest of the country. The architecture of the building of Sweden is the architecture of the modern world.

Our first night arrived in Stockholm about seven in the evening we went to one of the most interesting Youth Hostels in the world, the "Hostel Between the Bridges". We were fortunate in catching several hours sleep in the comfortable beds. This place has much about this city where on one stores the buildings of the 18th century. The Palace. We went to church in a beautiful Lutheran cathedral — and the organ was superb. The organ, which we were able to do because the Swedish language is for the most part phonetic, was excellent.

Roomy 1½-Storey Design Makes Good House For Large Family

This Harvey house should appeal particularly to larger families. Designed by architect Henry Fleet, of Toronto, it provides four bedrooms and good living-dining space.

The combination living and dining room is a well-lighted cheerful room with access to the back porch. The kitchen is well planned and includes a built-in oven. The central utility room made provision for two others upstairs with good closet space and a storage area under the roof. A convenient bathroom is included in the second floor layout.

The house is planned for a good-sized kitchen, with a large window over the sink.

The total floor area is 1,400 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 37 feet, six inches by 26 feet, 10 inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 400, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Baskets of pink and white gladioli formed a pretty setting when many homemakers make vegetables the main feature of their meals. It's a good idea to mix and match different vegetables, as they help decorate the meal and they're a welcome change from the usual.

Sparks Of Wisdom

Facts

Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen—Hebrews XI. 1.

FROM Other Pens...

Elimination of railway level crossings has been under way for some time. In the opinion of many this process of eliminating grade crossings and/or installing protective devices is a good idea.

But so eminent an authority as Donald R. Gordon writes to assert that protected crossings are the scene of as many (or more) traffic accidents as those with signals.

He says in a recent letter: "Rail signals can be used to prove anything and in this instance the percentage of accidents at the two types of crossing should be a deciding factor in the program to protect and eventually eliminate all level crossings."

In today's traffic situation, these should be no longer used.

Otherwise the job of eliminating them will be long and costly. But in the interval the driving public must be given all the protection possible.

No level crossings should be without protective signals of some kind, giving the driver ample warning of the approach of a train.

When this has been done, the public will have been given the protection to which it is entitled. Then, if there are drivers who disregard signals, whether or not accidents happen, the onus is on them, and they can be held responsible.

The unprotected crossing left open is a matter of chance.

Crossings give everybody, train crews and drivers, the utmost possible protection against accident.

SUMMER SHOPPING TIP

New York — (UPI) — When shopping for summer furniture along a country road, it helps you to get the low-down on nuts on shamshin, cedar, chaises, and ash.

It's a perfect game idea, for without the materials, you won't be able to tell whether the nuts are steel. And you should know this because non-sintered steel fittings are not as strong as the wood.

If the bolts are steel, a coat of paint or exterior varnish will help them last.

Even the nameless nut should have a coating of varnish when on furniture. If you don't know, there can be corrosion of the aluminum itself. This happens when the metal comes in contact in the presence of air and moisture.

Easy Edge

New York (UPI) — Looking for a quick and easy way to make yeast rolls? Mix 2 1/2 cups of prepared biscuits into a yeast of one-half cup of warm water, add a dash of dry yeast, one cup of warm water, and 1/2 cup of melted butter.

Stir in a small salt, a dash of pepper, a few drops of oil, and a spoonful of the leather flavoring.

Power failure inconveniences many, cooperation of marksmen is asked skill unquestioned, re-direction asked but not for long....

The skill of youthful riflemen in the Ontario Provincial Police, effects of the Fenlon Falls Rural Operating Area, HEC, but their cooperation is asked.

First knowledge that the bullet in a 23-cent rifle were being aimed at the power lines crossing the high tension line north of Lindsay came when the 42,000 volt line was cut by a lightning bolt. Its destruction. Further lightning at the height of a period of events, an inconvenience revealed by the in conjunction with an officer in the Fenlon Falls Operating Area, told the marksmen the managers were the people responsible for it when they were told that the power lines were having trouble. They had a meeting of their own, and a resounding vote of thanks if they chose less violence.

The area spokesman said he was embarrassed that those who shot at the power lines were responsible for the great inconvenience and potential loss, perhaps even of life, in the power house interruptions because about a broken breaker, but they were not the ones who were responsible for having those power lines having trouble. The area spokesman was asked if he had any other comments to make, he was silent.

Mr. Angus M. D. Yeoward has set down on paper facts relating to the interruptions brought about by the power lines. He said he has a good sense of the power lines.

Marksmen, either badly damaged or completely destroyed by 23-cent rifles in the hands of鄉里, have been asked to stop. Two weeks caused frustrating interruptions to electrical service to the Fenlon Falls area, residential and large tourist areas, served from the Fenlon Falls area.

"These interruptions have been, let's say, extremely inconvenient to the tourists and people highly sensitive to all the conveniences of society for the operation of their farms and businesses plus the many hours of work involved."

The cost of repairing and restoring services is a lurking expense of the power lines.

"Surely the youths involved, or others who might be tempted to do the same, will be fully apprised of the absolute consequences of such actions if parents, the newspapers and radio adequately bring this matter to the notice of the youth."

"Ontario Lynd is a Utility which belongs to all of us. It deserves the respect and cooperation of all who live in the community to serve our community as it is foreign to our thinking to do otherwise with our property. Likewise we should be prepared to protect it by example, by word of mouth, and by reporting the failures of others who do not."

"Your whole helpful cooperation in making such unnecessary damage to our power lines would be greatly appreciated."

HOW?

The past week saw three fatal accidents recorded in the Lindsay district much to the concern of residents in the area where the accident occurred. In addition to the three persons who died in the accidents, several others were injured physically and probably scarred mentally, possibly to the extent that malingering will be a fearful thing for these people for some time to come.

It is natural that people want to know how these terrible events came to pass since those who value their lives wish to avoid the pitfalls which led to the loss of the lives of others. This is all very well as far as it goes but there is a more vital question which is dependent in part on the former. That question is: Through whom do people who do not seem to be getting the safety messages beamed at the question public from many directions?

We know not the answer to the question but it is suggested here that "word of mouth" and "example" methods are not the best. There is a great awareness of the need for driving care. If enough people (parents, guardians and teachers especially) talk and exemplify safe driving practices, the contribution they make to highway safety may surpass their highest expectations.

In addition to any or all of the various means we use to promote traffic safety, it is imperative that our traffic laws be constantly adjusted to make it possible for the authorities to deal adequately with those whose driving habits tend to endanger themselves or others.

Other Opinions

POOR HEADLIGHTS TOO COMMON

Despite all safety checks and efforts of traffic safety organizations, many drivers are still operating vehicles with improperly adjusted headlights.

It is not at all uncommon to see a vehicle approaching with one dim headlight, or with both headlights dim. Nor is it a rare occurrence to see vehicles drive with their lights on approaching, only to have one go out altogether.

Many drivers have unnecessarily brilliant lights which are focussed so high that they are a menace to approaching vehicles. And others are so dim that the driver cannot see the road ahead.

This is contrary to the Highway Traffic Act, which sets up requirements for safe lights.

Every driver of a motor vehicle should see to it, for his own safety, and that of others using the roads, that his vehicle has properly adjusted headlights and head lights. Safe driving requires that all three be kept in top operating condition. —The Trentonian.

COURTS AND THE PRESS

The right of Canadian newspapers to print the details of preliminary court hearings is soon to be reviewed by Justice Minister Fulton, officials of his department and a parliamentary committee.

The decision to hold this study follows the report of a legal committee, headed by Lord Tucker, which has recommended against newspaper hearings of preliminary hearings. In Canada, provincial deputy attorneys-general have urged in urging Ottawa to prohibit the publication of written statements, such as confessions, that are submitted to preliminary hearings. This is a sensible proposal. It is merely a hearing before a magistrate to determine whether the crown has enough evidence against the accused to warrant trial in a higher court. If not, he goes free. To establish a case, the police generally give evidence through witnesses, and this does not allow an accused to have pleased guilty, his case is usually to probe for weak spots in the crown's case — unless he can shatter it with his own witness — and to reserve his defense for the regular trial, his chance of a right day.

If the proposal is one-sided in the courtroom, any accurate newspaper account of it is apt to look the same outside. Some members of the Canadian bar and the judiciary maintain, as the Tucker committee has in Britain, that this tends to prejudice the minds of new jurors, rendering it difficult if not impossible for an eventual trial to find jurors who preconceived ideas on the case.

There are others who hold that banning detailed newspaper reports of preliminary trials would be dangerous. They argue that the bright light of publicity helps to bring about a sense of justice, that newsmen can draw public attention to the fact that one man has been committed for trial on flimsy evidence or that substantially substantiated charges against another have been thrown out.

Since this matter will soon be reviewed in Canada, The Star will withhold comment at this time, except to make the point: Freedom of the press is not the issue here. The issue is responsibility. The publication of a newspaper carries with it many serious responsibilities, among them the duty of upholding justice. Although the proposal to ban preliminary hearings is a good one, it is a pity that it is being carried out in a perverted or sloppily administered, neither should it ever be a party, however unwittingly, to injustice. If it appears from the forthcoming study that the reporting of evidence at preliminary hearings in any way interferes with the sacred right of every accused person to have a fair trial, then the newspapers should feel duty-bound to heed the practice immediately.

PUBLIC OPINION AND LABOUR DISPUTES
The Vancouver Board of Trade has completed a survey of public opinion on labour disputes. It concerns the attitudes of the general public toward trade unions and the policies of Labour leaders. Questionnaires were sent out last March (to whom is claimed to represent sixty per cent of the adult population of British Columbia, exclusive native Indians, and the time chosen for conducting the survey was particularly appropriate in

Sparks Of Wisdom

Discretion

As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion — Proverbs, XI, 22.

Literature

Literature is the thought of thinking souls — Carlyle.

The light of the labour troubles with which the Pacific Coast province has been beset since the latter part of last year.

It has surveyed down the answers between men and women and also gave the average. Of the total number interviewed, 262 worked with their hands, 156 were clerical workers and sales people, 79 were retired, 46 were housewives and 100 were unemployed. In the case of one or more persons of the household belonged to a labour union; in 283 cases no one in the household belonged to a union.

The general conclusion to be reached from the findings of the survey is that labour in British Columbia is being misused; that unions are too strong, ask too much, and that most strikes are not justified. It was also the contention of the majority interviewed that labour leaders put self-interest ahead of the membership. It was the majority opinion that strike should be outlawed and that teachers and students should have the right to negotiate wages and working conditions.

Those interviewed indicated a much longer attitude towards unions than their male counterparts. When males displayed an anti-labour attitude, the women were more lenient.

All this detailed in a dispute to the Financial Times from Vancouver, is very interesting, but just what can be expected to accrue from the results of the survey is not quite clear.

The public, and its attitude towards trade unions and their actions, never seem to have any material effect on the solution of labour disputes. Much has been heard on occasion, about the intervention of women in labour disputes, but we have yet to obtain any evidence that such intervention has shortened a strike or had any effect on the outcome of the dispute.

Management and trade unions, in the final analysis, have the power to assert, or settle, strikes. Except under special circumstances, even governments can do little other than to appoint conciliation boards — the findings of which, incidentally, seldom cut much ice in the final settlement of disputes.

Glenarm Sunday School Holds Annual Picnic, Many Win Sport Prizes

Glenarm (PNS) — Birch Point picnic grounds was the scene of activity when members of the Glenarm Sunday School gathered for their annual picnic. Friends gathered to share in the fun and sun.

The weather was ideal and everyone enjoyed a wonderful time. Gathered, about 2:30 or 3 o'clock, and a full band was also enjoyed the music of the band.

Around 32 tables were set, Glen was sung and all enjoyed a regular banquet without a change of plates. The band played on and on.

All were invited to the Birch Point Farm for the installation of the new officers and the "new picnic table" which are such assets in all the community while attending these functions.

Why Waste Time Passing Bylaws?

Dear Sirs:
I sincerely trust I read in the "Post" that the Council passed a bylaw to limit our meeting in August & September. Every time I read the paper I notice

Mr. Baty As Town Manager?

Lindsay Post.
Dear Editor:
There is quite a number around this part who should be told that Mr. Baty is to be our new town manager. Our council is going to sign him up if that right. Yours truly, Manager of the Town of Lindsay.

It was always under the impression that the Council passed a bylaw to limit our meeting in August & September. Every time I read the paper I notice that this is right. Yours truly, are Canadian and British news.

When Miss D'Fond was crowned Miss Canada, "The Hamilton Spectator" wrote:

"The 19-year-old student who holds an Actors Equity Card has been a professional dancer since last night when she did an excerpt from 'The Threepenny Opera' for the Miss Canada Scholarship money she will be given with her further studies at UBC. She has been a dancer in Canada gets away - she'll finish a one-act play: 'The Man Who Loved'.

"That's because my professor is death on clichés - and loves titles which are clichés. Miss D'Fond, a Miss-International-style (20-28) Miss Canada explained.

She was born in London, Eng-

Touring Europe with Marg. Windrum

Ed. Note: Margarete Windrum, 16, of K.R. & L. is at the present moment touring the European countries with her parents and friends in company with two companions and during the course of the big journey is writing a series of articles for the Post.

I am sorry that I have not written to you soon but we have been traveling quickly and the time is just flying by.

I am in my last letter I told you about our stay in Paris. After we left Paris we journeyed through France, Italy, Austria, and finally reached the home of a young German minister whom we had met on the train near Paris. He invited us to his village near Stuttgart, close to the Black Forest. We spent the night at his home and then after a huge German breakfast of rolls, several kinds of very good sausages and delicious breads we explored the town and did some shopping. We wished at the name which the people had given to the sections of the village. Then we went to the famous street (Broadway) - a pictureque little park "Hirz Park" and an old mill which was built in 1780. The houses were built on stilts in the water.

"Little Vienna." Following this, after a stop at a little inn we piled into our little Fiat and began our trek towards Vienna.

With the arrival of summer at the time of their festival and from there we went to Salzburg, Mozart's birthplace. The weather was bright, bright and early the next morning, we set out for Vienna. When we reached Vienna, we were able to find the Youth Hostel as well as the Hotel "Europa" where we were to stay.

I am sorry that I have not written to you soon but we have been traveling quickly and the time is just flying by.

In my last letter I told you about our stay in Paris. After we left Paris we journeyed through France, Italy, Austria, and finally reached the home of a young German minister whom we had met on the train near Paris. He invited us to his home and then after a huge

German breakfast of rolls, several days or trying to talk to the German people who were very good at the time we were in Germany.

We left Innsbruck and travelled up the Brenner pass to Italy. We had to pay 100 francs for passes, thank you, bread and cheese - that is universal.

"Beautiful!" This mountainous type of country in the scenery which appears to be the Alpine, is very "beautiful!" This mountainous type of country in the scenery which appears to be the Alpine, is very "beautiful!"

When we reached the Brenner pass where the mountains meet, we had to pay 100 francs for passes, thank you, bread and cheese - that is universal.

We passed through little villages with their houses built on stilts, houses with windows full of wild flowers and girls and men in costume walking about. One night we were invited to a Swiss family home and there we had a delicious meal of fresh goat milk and climated down the mountain. The next day we were still driving fast and stopping quickly but finally we found the hotel - A Hotel "Europa" in the center of the town in an older district in Vienna. The next day we stopped and visited the Rennweg where there was a night hotel and a scrumptious dinner in the Rennweg as a farewell party for us. The next day we were on a very exciting tour of Austria, driving in the center of all the city buildings in Germany and Italy.

On the 26th of July we drove us out to the outskirts of Vienna and after a good day's driving we were back in our hotel in Munich. We had heard that we saw the village where Hitler lived and played and also the mountains where he and his grandfather lived. We were most fortunate in that we were able to get a room in a Swiss hotel in the center of the town on August 1st, the Swiss National Holiday. Switzerland is the oldest country in Europe. Every year they celebrate the birth of their government with firework displays in all the little mountain villages. Nestled in at the foot of the mountains we could see all the fires and colored lights flaming in the sky. As it to add to the glow of the mountains the sky was filled with smoke and lightning while hopped and dashed above and between the firework displays everything from Swiss folk tunes through Vienna waltzes to the Swiss national anthem. The next day we went swimming in a hidden lake in the forest, and then returned again to the festival in the evening to the hotel where we were to sleep.

To night I am writing this letter in a new hotel room (for which we paid 100 francs) in the center of a French town about ten miles from Lourdes. Tomorrow we hope to visit Lourdes. I am sure that you know that enchanting land of the beautiful senoritas, brilliant flowers and wonderful sunlight - Spain!

See you now,

Marg. W.

CLINICS FOR RABIES

Sixty has completely foisted man this time. We refer to the fact that a commonplace belief held in some quarters that the outbreak of rabies would follow a given pattern and subside with the warm weather of summer, has fallen on hard times... Rabies apparently has increased in prevalence throughout the summer months until it is of serious concern to many rural and urban residents.

If there is anything to be learned from the experience (agricultural officials have now embarked on arranging new rabies clinics in an effort to combat the further spread of rabies) it is that the disease pattern is probably that nature doesn't conform to a pattern, even though there has been an apparent trend toward conformity in the past.

In the interests of the welfare of animals on the part of area residents, all stray animals which are suspected of having and raising and having them either examined or destroyed or both, is apparently about all the most well informed on the subject can advise.

By way of reassurance but by no means an invitation to do so, the following are the most tolerable methods of treating humans suspected of having been exposed to rabies are now available... Chances of untoward consequences decrease with promptness in seeking treatment, doctors report and for the very prompt, the way ahead is virtually unclouded.

LINDSAY.... FIRST, LAST AND ALWAYS

It has been brought to our attention that there are forces at work which would like to see Lindsay out of the news... an impossible ambition, of course but one which nevertheless should be kept under observation.

One special objection which is being voiced has to do with news developments in the Lindsay area. It has been observed that Lindsay is a center to say that there is something happening here which is not happening many miles from Peterborough. This could be a deliberate attempt to make it appear that Lindsay is not the nearest main centre of trade and should be discouraged by several journalists living here or making their living out of developments occurring in the vicinity of Lindsay.

It has been observed that those communities grow fastest whose inhabitants (all) them up to every opportunity in and out of Lindsay loyal Lindsay residents could render the town in greater service than to guard the interests of Lindsay first, last and always.

THE CLEAN AND THE UNCLEAN

This has been the case in many respects... We have seen the development of the atomic and the hydrogen bombs, to mention but two of the era's more explosive achievements, but utilizing forces with vast and as yet, not fully explored potential for good and evil.

Last night on the television program "Close-up" there was a brief discussion between cyborgs on the merits or otherwise, of further developing the evil side of these forces from the "unclean" to the "clean" stage so that if the time comes when a few people conclude that the world is not a better place because of these additional (and awful) differences it will be a sufficient basis of bombs, those of us who are unfortunate enough to be the pawns in their little game may die cleanly.

What manner of apathy do such discussions indicate? Is it tenable that men in any walk of life can allow themselves to even think in terms of assenting to the further development of world-measuring forces on our basis?"

Men have always been confronted with two choices—to do right or to do wrong, and to bring where these appear to be only minor differences, the development of lethal weapons is concerned... "Is it right?" or "Is it wrong?" There can be no question of cleanliness or uncleanness in forces of destruction insinuated as their use by man against man is undoubtedly evil.

Men of genuine goodness should have no trouble determining the only course open to them—to resolutely oppose that which is wrong! And who will deny that a tolerant attitude toward the continuing development of weapons capable of killing and maiming thousands of innocent people, is fundamentally wrong and thus contrary to that which contributes to the well-being of mankind?

Guest Editorial

THRESHOLD OF 100 YEARS

When the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association meets next week in Toronto for its 39th annual convocation, it will have in its program that association of weekly editions and publishers as a guest 100 years old. Next September, 1859, will see the 100th birthday of the founding of the Canadian Press Association which included weeklies as well as daily newspapers.

There are in Canada today, more than a dozen weekly newspapers that were charter members of the Canadian Press Association when it was formed in 1859. A number of years ago the dailies and weeklies separated to form their own associations, and thus, the CWA and the Canadian Press Association now have their own associations of equals, and retain membership in the 100th-odd Canadian Press Association.

To put it another way, Canadian weeklies have stood together as a fraternity since long before Confederation, sharing their fellowship as the various provinces and territories grew and developed. The CWA has 517 members from coast to coast representing every province and virtually every community.

The Thursday Post's weekly publication of Wilson & Wilson Ltd., Lindsay, participates in the CWA and enjoys a predominantly rural coverage serving this trading area.

Burnt River (ON)—When Mr. and Mrs. Bill and their two daughters, Mrs. Bill and Mrs. Della (both Dells) went to the river rapids north of Burnt River, Mississauga, Ontario, their children, Mrs. Bill and Mrs. Della, were missing and about three hours later, Mrs. Bessie Hodges spotted them in a thicket of pick thorn bushes, where she did not return in a few minutes. ### Household Hints

By Roberta Lee

Dry Clothes

If you are having dry clothes on a line for airing and the clothes are not getting dry, it is because the material, such as cotton, is not hot water for several minutes before using.

Basement Floors

When the basement floor is being painted extend the paint about 12 inches beyond the floor of the surrounding walls. This will prevent the lighter-colored walls when you are in the basement.
